

MedEd on the Edge

Future Trends and Current Controversies in Health Professions Education

SAVE THE DATE October 4-6th, 2023
Karolinska University Hospital, Stockholm

International congress

Health professions education (HPE) is a critical societal enterprise that prepares health care providers to serve every country's population. Despite incredible progress in the development of HPE around the world, there are several lingering challenges and sticking points that prevent HPE from advancing further in compassionate, effective, evidence-informed and context-adapted professional education. This new and exciting congress aims to gather HPE "influencers" – those seeking to impact HPE in a positive way to debate contemporary controversies and promising new ideas.

This meeting will be unlike other HPE conferences. Attendance is limited to 300 people only. The aim is to have voices and perspectives from multiple health professions and from every continent.

Who should attend

Leaders who want to advance health professions education from all over the world, from any health profession, and at any stage of career, across the continuum. No formal leadership position is needed. If you want to influence HPE, you are welcome!

Host organisations

Karolinska University Hospital & Karolinska Institutet
Stockholm, Sweden

Karolinska
Institutet

For more information

www.mededontheedge.com

